January 2015

Happy New Year to you all!

Firstly I would like to thank you all for your continued support throughout 2014

Hopefully 2015 will be just as good as the last 12 months and will see us grow as a club and also as individuals. Training will be hard this year but enjoyable at the same time. We will be focussing on the basics (technical and principles) and their applications, getting them perfected which in turn will stand you in good stead for your development through the ranks, this is not to say that all techniques and principles won't be worked on.

All going well there will be an introduction of specific Dan classes throughout the year to further enhance the Dan grades.

Gradings will remain the same at every three months, by invite only, however, more focus will be given to knowledge of techniques, terminology, attendance and general etiquette throughout the three month period. As always students should not expect to grade for their next belt after three months.

Regretfully, the fees for the classes will be changing, slightly, from Monday 12th January. Main class fees will remain the same, but those wishing to take part in both junior and senior classes will be required to pay for the second session, at half price concession. (I.e. if a junior student is taking part in two classes the cost will be £4.50 (£3.00 for the first hour and £1.50 for the second)). Later in the year there may have to be a further pricing restructure, depending on numbers and whether or not the Dojang rent goes up. If this is the case I will try to keep the change to a minimum.

I also hope that more students will get involved in extra activities throughout the year so you can show other clubs / styles just how good you are!

Thanks and Regards
